Abstract: Throughout the history of the world since the Renaissance the formation and transfer of the world's education center is traceable Italy Britain France Germany and the United States have become the world's education center one by one. Becoming an important education center in the world is not only the grand goal and important destination of China's education development but also the need to promote the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation by modernizing Chinese-style education and it is also in the interests of people of all countries in the world. Looking back at history based on the present and looking forward to the future it is inevitable for China to become an important education center in the world. At present the global innovation pattern has changed significantly showing a clear trend of transferring from Europe and the United States to the Asia-Pacific region and from the Atlantic region to the Pacific region. We should seize the historical opportunity and on the basis of the successful experience of the world's education centers and in conjunction with China's local education practice we should continuously enhance the support contribution international influence and global leadership of China's education so as to build China into an important education center in the world at an early date.
